INTRODUCTION:

This is a very important "piece of the puzzle" in our MaGrav Series of KF Brazil by Knowledge Seekers (KS). The missing piece has been, how do we gather the energy of the Universe (U) and convert it to what we know as electricity, or other forms of energy, including the energy needed to elevate our soul. We have to learn how to create graphene and C14 on the coils of the MaGrav system, by first creating C12. Those people who got their MaGrav to work, they did it by this process, without them even knowing what they did.

This was all proven to be possible and confirmed by the Raman Spectroscopy reports done in Belgium. And we know it's true, because this is the point when the Belgium's began trying to take over the KF by force. Lead by their king, they knew we had the knowledge needed to end slavery on this planet. So they started by making graphene a criminal offense. But still we carry on.

This is our work, to find out how to make C12 on the coils, which is then converted to graphene and C14. The big hint he gave us years ago, was adding some KOH, potassium hydroxide to the Nano coating process. In terms of plasma field strength, 3 C14's are equivalent to 1 K ( $3 \times 14 = 42$ , which is K). And 4 C14's ( $4 \times 14 = 56$ , which is Fe) add up to Fe, which is the magnetic field of this planet. We can physically see and feel the field forces of iron magnets. Iron is the only magnetic element on this planet that we can see. Next time we play with magnets we can be aware, that these forces interact and connect with the plasmatic C14 radiation fields of the U. We are actually connecting to everything in the whole U. In the future, scientists will be able to measure and see these fields, which are today invisible to us.

A very beautiful truth was revealed to us. "The C14 isotope strength dictates what you'll become, whether a cell of the heart, or a cell in the blood, or even if you'll become a star somewhere in the U. This is why we see C in everything. This makes me wonder, what really is this C14? While at the same time it feels like we are being shown the essence of creation.

In the body, C14 works through the Thalamus and Thymus glands to create the fields needed to transmute any element into any other element that is lacking. This is why for example, Eskimos who only eat meat can survive and are healthy, because the glands convert this single food into whatever is needed. B12 is a controlled conversion between C12 and C14, and provide the radiation needed for transmutation of elements in the plasma state. The body has been doing this for billions of years.

He explained how C12 is converted into C14, and that without a C12 source, transmutation in the plasma condition would be impossible. (He told us before that the C of the AA is C12). This is especially true for when the transmutation occurs repetitively, like in the creation of cells in a given position in the heart for example, or a cell in a given position in the foot. It remembers what is needed through the emotions of the souls and the cells at that particular point. Cosmic rays are created by the C14 in the Thalamus and this allows the conversion and the sustaining of the field in that position. (It seems that the recurring pattern in creation of the U is the accumulating of all these little dots together to make up something bigger, like all these dots we are looking at on this computer screen or all the atoms in our body).

Finally, Mr. Keshe encourages all of us to go back and find out how to create graphene and C14 on our coils and we'll be able to convert the universal energy to what we need. But there is one provision. That the person who uses the MaGrav, does so with the intention of giving what he receives to be of benefit, then it will work. Because at this level our intentions are transparent and open to the others around us, we cannot lie. When we work in the world of plasma we have to be correct in every dimension.

You cannot fly with a MaGrav, but you can fly on the fields of the MaGrav. You cannot get energy from the U from a MaGrav, but you can use the fields of MaGrav to tap into universal energy. I gave you the most powerful generator, and you are still after the crumbs.

Thank you

Summary of Excerpt

Today, if you have understood this, then through your MaGrav systems, you would be able to absorb the energies from the U, and convert it into the energies you want to use, through the line of the connection of the C within your MaGrav system. Now you have your power generator. But as long as you want to connect the wires, and do this and that, my friend, keep on playing.

Go back to the book where we have showed and declared that graphene is made in the parachutes. We forced them to give us the Raman Spectroscopy report to confirm, that the C12 exists and graphene is within it. Graphene is the reason I gave you the Nano coils to put in your MaGrav systems.

You have to learn how to connect the MaGrav system, so that it converts, and absorbs, and creates C14 on the coils. Then the C12 on your coils can absorb the energies you are looking for, (the electricity). Maybe now you can understand, that I have given you the generator. Please those of you who received MaGravs, pay the balance to the KF.

This why some of your MaGrav systems worked and you had a good energy reduction in your electricity bills, and others said, "the MaGrav doesn't work." For those of you who managed to make it work, if you look at the number of coils, the positioning, you find everything perfect. You were able to make, not singular C12, but a spectrum of the C12 field energies, of which there are millions. This was the reason for coiling the Nano coated wire, to access the different fields. But still, that was not the main reason. The whole thing from the beginning was, so that you would be able to create enough graphene on your coils. (And strangely,) the Belgium's made that a criminal offense. Graphene on the coils absorbs the universal energies.

Mr. Jalal your secret MaGrav society is on the run. You wanted to make the MaGrav system, but you didn't understand where your engine was. Now I have given you the engine. Creating C12 on the Cu coils is one of the easiest things to do, if you understand how.

Now those of you who claim we haven't given you the generator, and Keshe is a fraud. My friend, you are as fraud as the Belgium government and its king. Because you didn't understand the knowledge. Belgium's confirmed from day 1, that I have created graphene, and I created C14. These are the sources of the energy absorption.

This is why in the Einhooven Exhibition conference they were measuring floating (electrical) energies everywhere on the parachutes. Do you remember when I opened the Box, and then said, "this is the empty energy box of the U." What was hanging on the doors of the box? Cu Nano coated parachutes for nailing the roof.

I created that Box with graphene and C14 on the layers of the Cu, so each one will absorb different energies from the U. Then I took that, and made it into the coils of your MaGravs. You have what I call, "the vortex of the combinations" of the C12 energies and C14 conversions in your MaGrav systems. Excuse me sir, your fraud is not understanding what you have been given, and not the technology. Just because you deny something, does not mean it's not there.

Now reconsider how to do your Nano coatings, and how much C14 you can create on it. That's why we said that you should not use fire to Nano coat, but use caustic instead. Look at the chemical composition of caustic especially KOH, then you can add a potassium (K) to your Nano coating. I have given you the C14 generating system.

The K40 isotope in the K, is a reference point in the division of the 40 to 42 of plasmatic field strength. It gives you 3 C14's. It's just a reference point, and not a producer. This allows your O, with a combination of the Nano coating to convert a Cu. You convert a Cu atom into the combination of itself, to the division of the isotope plasmas of C14.

Now you understand why Fe, which is 56, is the magnetic field of this planet. Because of its position and its D it's the only way, in which the inner fields of this planet interacts with the C14 of the U, to create the planetary systems. Each planetary system, in the same way tunes into the C14 radiation field of the U. C14 is the only way we keep connection with the M field in the Pl form, it's the same in the body where C is the communicator and a connector. It connects everything together.

The plasmatic field of your magnet is the C14 connection, that's how the fields within magnets and the planetary system work. It keeps in contact with. In the future, when man's knowledge extends, you will be able to measure every single fields coming out of solid magnets or planetary systems, and you will see that C14 connection. The C14 isotope strength dictates what you'll become, whether you'll become a cell of the heart, or blood in the circulation of the body, or if you'll become a star somewhere. That's why C is in everything.

That's why the Thalamus and Thymus create fields, that allows the creation and conversion of what we call, the isotopes of any elements. These isotopes are created according to the field strengths of the C to be given, so that it can convert from one matter into another.

If for example, when you lack K, or Phosphorus in your body, where does it come from? It comes through the 2 glands, which cooperate and interact in releasing cosmic ray fields. These cosmic rays give enough energy for one matter to jump to another to satisfy the need of the body, or to complete a C14 connection, by taking it as a G field in the C14.

That's why the Eskimo eating only meat and living in the North Pole, still produces every other material needed for its body to be healthy. It's the same with the vegetarian who eats only one kind of food, still their body converts everything that they need. It's the C connection with the support of the glands, which create that condition of radiation, we call B12. B12 is a controlled conversion between C12 and C14, and allows the conversion of the C to change the combination, and transmutation of the elements as a Pl. This is what the body has done for billions of years. If you are short of vitamin D, the body makes it. If you are short of Ca, the body makes it through conversion of the AA connection in the body.

Looking at the chemical structure of KOH, and NaOH, you see the O and H, this OH part is at the end of it. You can control this connection with H<sub>2</sub>O, with an extra O, H and ??, in a plasmatic, and not in a chemical interaction. When you do this, you allow one of the O to change into graphene, or C12 to change into C14. Then this becomes a divider, a supplier of the division of the fields of the other elements, to create transmutation from one element to another.

Without the presence of the C12, or the energy fields from a C12 source, transmutation in the plasma condition is impossible. This is especially true if the transmutation results in repetitive creation of the same entities, as we see in the body of the man. The body continuously and repetitively creates the same type of cell for a given position in the heart, for example, or a cell for a given position in the foot. It remembers what it needs, because the emotion of the soul, of the emotion of the cell, at that point in the body, in interaction with the cosmic rays created by the C14 in Thalamus, allows the conversion, and the sustaining of that field in that position. I am a genius when it comes to explaining to you, but you are even a greater genius than me, because you understood it.

The secret society of the MaGrav community of Jalal, Hasan and the others, go back to the drawing board. Find out how you create C14 and graphene on your Nano coils, and then you'll find the source of the energy, which is the conversion of universal energy.

But there is a proviso to this. If the one you give the MaGrav system to, uses it to be of benefit, to give from what he receives, then the system works. Whereas the one who is there to cheat ends up saying, "oh, I bought a MaGrav system but it doesn't work." Because now you are working just like the man swimming in the middle of the school of fish. His intentions are transparent and open to the other fish. They know if his true intention is to give and be of benefit. Now you understand, that when you work in the world of the plasma it has to be correct in every dimension.

I hope we learned a little bit more in today's teaching. Perhaps we created more mayhem for those of you who thought you understood it, but you couldn't place it. And for those of you who are just listeners, and are not really interested it may sound like a lot of blah, blah, blah, and "I like to go to sleep with the voice of Mr. Keshe." I should create a copyright for putting people to sleep by listening to my voice. But one day you pay with your soul, and you'll enjoy it.

Now you understand how you can bring both the soul and D of physicality into the D of transportation and transmutation, in understanding the first basics we started 10 to 15 years ago. Sorry Jalal, I threw a lot of things out of the window, that you have been working on. But you have a gorgeous team. Go back and understand and you'll have the biggest power station in the Universe. I gave you the true universal power generator, and if you change the C composition in your Cu, you can even create energy on the planet Zeus.

Q: Is it correct to say the fields of the physical man, the correct fields of the STM, and the field of the MaGrav system, together generate a power generator?

K- Of course it does. This is what we said from the beginning. You just understood, that's good.

You cannot fly with a MaGrav, but you can fly on the fields of the MaGrav. You cannot get energy from the U from a MaGrav, but you can use the fields of MaGrav to tap into universal energy. I gave you the most powerful generator, and you are still after the crumbs.

I hope today you learned how the connection between the STM, the P of the man, in the environment comes together. All this you have done many times. Now you can connect it. It's understanding, which matters, and if you understood this, your MaGrav systems, which you have been looking for, would absorb the energies from the U, and converts it into energy through the line of the connection of the C within your system, (1:36). to your MaGrav system, you have your generator. As long as you want to connect the wires and this and that, my friend, still carry on playing.

Go back in the books, in one of the books we have shown the parachutes. In one of the books, we have declared that graphene is made in the parachutes. We forced them to give us the Raman Spectroscopy of the confirmation, that the C12 exists, and the graphene is within it. This is why I gave you the coils, this is why I gave you the MaGrav systems.

You have to learn how connect the MaGrav system to convert, to absorb, to create C14, on the coils, that it can absorb the connection to your system, as a C12, as energy you are looking for. Now you understand, I gave you the generator? Please those of you who received MaGravs pay the balance to the KF.

This why some of you who made MaGrav systems worked, and you have a good energy, power reduction, and some of you, "does not work." Those of you who have managed to do, if you look at the coils, the number of coils, positioning, everything perfect, (1:38). because you create a spectrum of the C12 field energies, C12 is not singular. C12 has a spectrum field energy, millions of them, and the reason for coiling it, is that purpose, to be able to. But the main object of the whole thing, that we gave you from the beginning, which the Belgium's made it a criminal offense, is how have you managed to create enough graphene on your coils?

Mr. Jalal your secret MaGrav society is on the run. You wanted to make the MaGrav system, but you didn't understand where your engine is. Now I gave you the engine. Creating C12 on the Cu coils is one of the easiest things to do, if you understand how.

Now those of you who claim we haven't given you the generator and Keshe is a fraud. My friend you are as fraud as Belgium government and its king. Because you didn't understand the knowledge. Belgium's confirmed from day 1, that I have created graphene, and I created C14. These are the source of the energy absorption.

That's why on my parachutes, when you see the box, the original ones, you see energies, floating everywhere. Do you remember the Einhooven Exhibition conference, where I opened the Box, and I said this is the empty energy box of the U. What was hanging on the doors? (1:40). of the container? Cu Nano coated parachutes for nailing the roof.

Because I created a box with graphene and C14 on the layers of the Cu, that each one absorbs different energies from the U. I took that, and I made it into the coils, and I put it in your MaGravs. You have the what I call, the vortex of the combinations of the C12 energies, and C14 conversions in your MaGrav systems. Excuse me sir, your fraud is not understanding what you have, and not the T. Denying does not bring clearance.

Reconsider, now again and again, how you Nano coat, and how much C14 you can create on it. Now you go back to why we said, do not N coat with fire, or (but) Nano coat with caustic. My friends, Rick can you put the chemical composition of caustic on the screen.. and then add a potassium (K) to it. I have given you the C14 generating system. (1:42).

... Bring the potassium (K), if you read one of the papers I keep on pushing K, because K is , you got some of K in your toilet cleansers ... The barbeque cleaner has it, .. it says K content. ..

That K due to the K40 which is the reference point in the division of the 40 to 42, gives you 3 C14. As a reference point, not as a producer, which allows your O, with a combination of the Nano coating to convert a Cu. Convert a Cu atom, into the combination of itself, to the division of the isotope plasmas of C14.

Now you understand why 56 which Fe, is magnetic field of this planet. It's the only way which, the inner fields of this planet interacts with the C14 of the U, to create planetary systems. (1:44). Because of its position and its D. Each planetary system goes for the same way, to tune into the C14 radiation field of the U. That's the only way we keep connection as M field in the Pl form, as is communication in the body .. C is a connector, communicator. In the plasmatic field of your magnet, is C14 connection, that's how your fields, within your magnets, within the planetary system work. It keeps in contact with.

When the knowledge of the man extends to be able to measure every single fields coming out of your solid magnets, or planetary system, you will see that connection. It's your C14 isotope strength, which dictates, you'll become a cell of the heart, you become a star in one position, or you become blood in the circulation in the body of the man. That's why you have that C in everything.

That's why in certain position of the body .. fields are created like in Thalamus and Thymus, that allows the creation, conversion of what we call, the isotopes of any elements according to the field strengths of the C to be given, that can convert a matter from one to another. When you lack K, or Phosphorus in your body, where does it come from? Through the 2 glands, cooperation and interaction, (1:46). in releasing the cosmic ray fields, gives enough energy for one matter to jump to another, to satisfy the need of the body .. or to take as a G field in the C14 connection, to complete it.

That's why man living in the North Pole, an Eskimo eating only meat, still produces every other material it needs in its body and the man who is a vegetarian and eats one kind of food, still the body converts. It's the C connection with the support of the glands, which create that condition of radiation, what we call B12. B12 is a controlled conversion between C12 and C14, and allowing the conversion with the C, to change combination and transmutation of the elements in the body .. as a Pl. That's what the body has done for billions of years. You are short of vitamin D, the body makes it, you are short of Ca, the body makes it through conversion of the AA connection of the body .. ....

Have a look at KOH, and NaOH do you see the O and the H next to it. (1:48). If you be able to control this connection with the H2O, with an extra O and the H and N, in plasmatic, and not a chemical interaction.
